

Mrs. Broward Johns Suffocates

In Mid-Day Fire at Her Home

A fire of apparent accidental origin in the home of Broward J. Johns early Wednesday afternoon resulted in the death of Mrs. Johns, and the near destruction of the inside of the home.

A neighbor, Mrs. Floyd Smith, reported the fire, and when the fire department arrived, flames and smoke prevented their immediate entry, as they were the attempted entry of Laymon K. Hardman, who had hurried to the fire from a nearby point. When entry was made by the firemen, Mrs. Johns' body was found in a hallway off the living room already badly burned and charred.

Investigation by Chief Goodlett and Deputy Sheriff Clarke, did not confirm the first report of a person who had been the source of the fire. A sofa in the living room, which was the most affected by the fire, had a badly burned hole, indicating that a dropped match or cigarette had caused the fire at that point. The living room and the hall leading from it are the most damaged, with the two bedrooms and other space in the house showing less results of the fire.

Mr. Johns was in the Big Cypress with companions on a hunting trip, and a local plane was dispatched in an effort to locate him and notify him of the disaster.

Wayne Baker, a volunteer fireman, was overcome by smoke but recovered at the hospital and was on the job at the fire before the department had completed its job.

The fire department reported that the fire was contained in the frame building despite its progress when they arrived. Close around homes are also of frame construction.

Survivors include her husband, Broward J. Johns, Belle Glade, three daughters, Mrs. Joan Davis, South Bay, Mrs. Jane Jones, Hattiesburg, Miss., and Mrs. Jean Turner of Orlando, ex-sister, Mrs. Mary McDonald, Belle Glade; one brother, R. Baker, and stepmother, Catherine Baker, Stuart.

Rotary-Lions Hear Arthur Moore

"Aristocrats of Service are a group that has come into prominence during the period of World War I and the League of Nations. Arthur Moore told a combined meeting of Rotary and Lions Wednesday, and they are distinguished by R. Baker, and stepmother, Catherine Baker, Stuart.

He gave as these qualifications: (1) What he is—without worldly goods or economic status. (2) What he knows—"To know what's under your feet is power; to know what is around you is wisdom; to know God is religion."

(3) What man loves—we become most like what we love, inevitably. (4) What man does—not what he says he will do.

The visitor spoke fluently, easily, and with an apparent background of experience that emphasized his earnestness. His gracious manner, his fluent, ready expressions timely interspersed and the dignity of his delivery held his hearers in a magnetic mood.

A standing ovation of appreciation and respect followed the speaker's final assurance of the superiority of "Aristocrats of Service."

Bishop Moore, following retirement from service with the Methodist Church which has included Administration in practically all areas of activity of the denomination including Asia, Europe and North America, entered full time evangelistic service.

His current work brings him to the Community Methodist Church where he conducts services daily at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. through Friday of this week.

The speaker told his audience "Once an education is attained, it cannot be lost," and he quoted Aristotle's reply when asked about the advantages of an education. "This is the same as being a living man and a dead man."

Records disclose that a college-educated person is more able to adapt to changing surroundings, and in addition far better financially over a person with only a high school education with the cost of the college work being regained 10.9 times in the fall of '94 as a two-year salary is $4,992 as against $6,710 for a college graduate; and even in hard times unemployment with college grade is 8.5 percent less than high schoolers."

Statistics give high school graduates a life-time average income of $257.00 while a college grad brings in $435.00. The Senator told his audience that even though some five million were appropriated for the commencement of Boca Raton University, the cash has not so far been available. The governor's plan to issue fifteen mil-

South Bay Store Robbed Sun. Nite

The Greenfront Bar and Package Store on Joe Lewis Avenue South Bay, was robbed of approximately $135.00 in cash and merchandise last Sunday night, according to a spokesman for the owner, Mr. W. Griffin.

Entry was made by the looters thru the door of the building which is set up on piling.

Ida Williams, manager, detected the robbery when she opened the store for business at 9 o'clock Monday morning. Chief of Police Marvin Davis and Deputy Hiltz Bonard investigated. The cops had not apprehended as of Wednesday.

At the Experiment Station, Mr. Sung studied and observed the harvesting, processing and storing of sugarcane production. He was given general information by many of the staff members. Mr. Sung also visited the Canal Point USDA Sugar Station where Mr. B. A. Belcher and his staff gave him information on sugar cane propagation and other phases of raising sugarcane.

While he was in the Glades area, in addition to his work with the Station personnel, Mr. Sung enjoyed seeing Palm Beach, several packing houses, the Cleveland Sugar Mill, Thomas Edison's Garden and Lab in Ft. Myers, Fairchild's Botanical Gardens and the Parrot Jungle in Miami, and Miami Beach.

These trips, he was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Landan. A. Doub and family. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Glover and children joined the group in Miami.

With a quarter of a century in service as a Builder of the Glades, Harry McIntosh recovered the loaned dollar, expanded and resoundingly in succeeding larger projects, with the introduction of a "country banker" with modern concepts of analyses based on knowledge of the industry, the area and the individual.

His leading position as a community banker was maintained through the cycle of beans as a dominating factor to the high position of celery and sweet corn as major production items.

The man of beef production as a stabilizing economic factor to Glades agricultural effort found Mr. McIntosh and his bank acuity in this field.

Frost Damage Serious But Undetermined In Both Vegetables And Young Cane

Damage by the low temperature of 25 to 30 degrees in Glades vegetables is very definite, but due to loss of quantity and quality to become apparent later, the full extent is undetermined.

Young cane—both plant and ratoon—that was burned to the ground will be delayed in maturity and affected some in tonnage and sugar. This will become more determinable in several weeks, when the exact severity becomes apparent.

Beans normally have been harvested earlier and did not account for a very heavy acreage, but they were seriously damaged. Corn, which is usually close in, at this time of year, suffered in the outlying areas.

The Federal-State Market News Service reports that "leaf crops and radishes were also damaged, while only minor damage is expected to heavy crops such as celery and cabbage."

Shippers have been hit out over the holidays, and due to the frost will be light for several weeks.

Celery accounted for 89 cars from the Lake section on the 28th and 29th, potatoes 28 cars, cabbage 19 and radishes 21 cars.

Demand is picking up on vegetables available in the quality grades, and are expected to continue strong in Horticultural Crops Section of the Weed Society of America.

The annual meeting of this organization was recently held in St. Louis, Missouri and was attended by over 700 registrants from the United States, Canada, Australia, Europe and Latin America.

Dr. Orsenigo has been conducting research on weeds for several years at the Everglades Station. Prior to that time he conducted research in this field in Venezuela, Costa Rica and Mexico.

His election to the Chairmanship of the Horticultural Crops Section of the Weed Society of America is a recognition of the important contribution that he has made to this field of research.

FARMINGDALE, N. J., BOOSTER: "A liberal is a guy who thinks the world owes him a living... a conservative knows the world owes him a living... but he also knows he has to work like the devil to collect."

BISHOP, CALIF. INVO REGISTER: "About the only thing that's the matter with promoting good old-fashioned Americanism is that it seems to offend those good old-fashioned communists."

ODESSA, WASH. RECORD: "It has long been agreed that the strength of a nation is in its food supply, the product of its farms. This realization brought the farm programs into being. Politics then made the program unworkable. Through the program the farm income has dropped to a tragic low... The eventual farm solution will have to come from farm levels, the only place it is understood."

WE'RE AMERICANS TOO!

According to figures given at a meeting in Pahokee there is a definite NEED NOW for approximately 400 homes in the Lake Okechobee area from Canal Point to Lake Harbor for NEW administrative and supervisory personnel employed by the sugar mills within six months to a year by December 1st, 1962.

This information is based on feasibility reports which are accepted at par by government agencies, banks and finance groups throughout the western hemisphere.

Collateral or complementary businesses and services to come along will bring this figure up to 800, by all measuring sticks. These do NOT include homes for year-round negro families, which it is estimated will reach another 250 in the area. This is a home-owning community historically for our permanent negro residents, and includes many whose credit record and economic stability meet FHA requirements FINANCING.

FHA is the greatest single benefit to home-ownership for 80% of American. It lends to a family unit according to its economic ability to pay.

FHA was fostered and financed by Congress with an increasing and substantial benefit to our give-away national budget, as are most self-help programs which the Farm Credit Administration handles.

Federal Savings and Loan Associations rank next to FHA in making available reasonable financing to home-owners, and they fill a void where more personal and intimate discretion and direction are possible.

Within one to two hours drive of the Glades, from Vero to Homestead, there are thousands of homes from $8,500 to $25,000 in sale price, FHA financed, that are begging buyers with a month's rent as cash payment, if advertisements in daily papers are evidence.

To deny America's—and certainly Florida's most diversified and unmatched agricultural empire equal availability to FHA-financed homes is un-American.

There are no regulations of FHA apparent to justify this denial except the delinquencies of inexperienced sanitary engineers, in that they have not married the "book" with the practical.

Nowhere had engineers attempted to move so much water over so great an area of flat lands as that in the program of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District comprising seventeen county areas.

Today, these works are the object of interest to engineers all over the world—for new rules were established for the "book." The US Engineers, representing the best professional training in schools and experience, found that "on-the-ground" conditions justified new facets, engineering practice, with satisfactory results and savings in millions.

Water tables, action of water in the soil and under-ground are the facts on which the $300,000,000 water conservation programs are based, and these facts are available to FHA's neoplaton engineers.

Glades communities are progressive in thinking and in works, with particular reference to Belle Glade's substantial beginning on a community sewerage plant with Belle Glade and Pahokee's presently announced plans for the same.

We are held back as a community because of the apparent "to DO NOTHING is to DO NOTHING WRONG," theory.

"Taint right"—it's holding back a community that has demonstrated its ability to take advantage of Nature's Gifts, in man's oldest profession—bringing foodstuffs from the ground.

Chas. Hayes Gives New Ideas for Bomb Shelters at ASC

(Taken from the "Tropititan" Troy State College Newspaper, by Charles (Chuck) Hayes of Belle Glade)

In this day of justifiable hullabaloo over civil defense, bomb shelters, and the twist, I believe that a very important part of this nation's population is being overlooked in all but the last. This segment of the population that I am concerned about has numbered among us, you and me, the college students.

With all of the plans for survival in case of nuclear attack, I have yet to see any provisions for us. It is undeniable that it is with the college students that the future of America, or any nation, lies. Yet where will you be when the rains come? Adrift in the dorms; sipping coffee, or playing bridge in the Student Center; studying in the library; or maybe some will be in the BSU praying. Makes no difference, the little black cloud will have the same effect on us all if we don't have the sufficient protection of a fall-out shelter.

I propose that, if not every, at least the majority of the colleges and universities be equipped with adequate fall-out facilities.

Right away some will be struck by what they think is the awesome impracticability and cost of such a project. It would most certainly cost the government a neat little sum, but not as much as you might think. These shelters could be incorporated with present building programs fairly easily. For instance, here at Troy State, construction is about to begin on a new dining hall. This dining hall could be placed underground with added storage space, proper air and water filtering systems, and all other proper facilities. It would be worth the added price, don't you think?

Along with the protection it could afford, such a shelter could be used quite well for academic discipline. For instance, provide room for (this would be down on cost) and admission to the shelter for only the two-thirds of each class. Just think how the academic rating of Troy State would soar!

Such a plan as this could, of course, be expanded and instead of the girls being campused for the weekend, it could be denied admission to the shelter for the weekend, if it should be needed, provided of course that their grades were good enough to get them in the first place! How about it, Mrs. Kate? Oh well, it is time to go and study my Russian. "Soviet Union, your National Guard is awake," they can't do a damn thing about those little particles floating around in the air!

FISHING IN THE Glades

King winter set the bass fishing back on its ear this week with cold winds chilling the shallow waters and driving them back to deeper waters. But by the same token all this chilling of the waters added up to bigger catches of specks sprinkled with a few good sized jack caught.

Since the news release on drifting for specks in the rim canal from the bridge one could see whole flocks of drifting fishing boats. It's a good feeling to see so many anglers enjoying their favorite sport.

Frank Zuchelli of the Belle Glade Police Department report that he took my advice and tried the Blue Tail Fly. His success ran from bass and specks on the lake to some of the most successful mackerel fishing he ever experienced. He was so convinced at the success of this lure that he couldn't wait to tell me of it.

I can further add that Frank is one of our most enthusiastic fishermen of the area who spends equal amounts of time fishing the lake and the nearby salt waters.

CROSS ONLY

WINNER, AAA TRAFFIC SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

Thirty-five per cent of all pedestrians deaths in cities occurred when the victim was crossing the street between intersections, according to the East Florida AAA Division.

Jay-Walking is one of the most dangerous violations in the pedestrian safety lexicon," said William B. Wellons, Jr., Director of Traffic and Safety. "The pedestrian who fails to cross at the intersection runs the risk of sudden death from passing cars. By crossing at the intersection, the pedestrian may take advantage of such protective devices as crosswalks, signs and signals. These are intended to protect him, and it is foolish not to use them."

A safety poster illustrating the theme, "Cross only at Corners," is being distributed to schools in the East Florida Division, as part of its regular monthly safety education program.

The new poster, designed by Marian Walkup 16, an 11th grade student at Hume-Fogg School, Nashville, Tennessee, was a first-prize winner in the American Automobile Association's National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. The prize was awarded by a panel of nationally-known judges, and the poster will be reproduced and distributed by AAA motor clubs in many sections of the country.

READY FOR FAIR

MINNIE PEARL, famed hill billy, with new hat, is ready for Florida State Fair in Tampa, Feb. 6-17, to head Tallahassee Country Music Jamboree, featuring Hank Snow, his Rainbow Ranch Boys Band, a wreck-and-roll auto thrill show, and other top talent during the first week of the big 57th annual Winter Exposition.

Appearing also in a double-barreled grandstand show the first week of the exposition will be Bill Reed's International Auto Daredevil in a death-defying wreck and roll thrill show with 28 big acts.

Moreover, grandstand seat prices will be offered in a family budget ranger of a dollar for adults, 50 cents for children, and box seats at $1.50. Advance ticket sales to all fair events opened Tuesday, January 2.

Minnie Pearl, America's foremost country-style comedienne, will bring to the fair for the first time more than 20 years of boisterous, good-natured entertainment that has made her an international star of stage, radio, and television. She has appeared recently in Carnegie Hall and Madison Square Garden, also with Elvis Presley in Honolulu, and on the Jack Paar, Ernie, Ralph Edwards, Dinah Shore, and other TV shows. In real life she is Mrs. Henry R. Cannon of Nashville, a graduate of Ward Belmont College in Nashville, and a former dramatics teacher.

Hank Snow is one of America's most beloved singers of country songs, called by Billboard Magazine "an all-time great" of his style. His top-selling records include "I'm Moving On," "The Golden Rocket," and "Rock Rolling Ocean."

The grandstand program will be changed completely the second week of the fair, bringing in the charming Ginny Tiu, the lovable, appealing 7 year old China Doll of rising entertainment fame, her Happy Tiu family.

Sculptor Teacher In One - Man Show At Norton Gallery

A new exhibition in the series of one-man shows will open at the Norton Gallery of Art on Sunday, January 7th when the works of a talented local sculptor, George Jenkins, go on view to the public. The show is in the Dean's Gallery, and will continue through January 18th.

Mr. Jenkins prefers to carve his pieces, rather than to model them. In this exhibition, he has used many materials, including eight kinds of marble, granite, aluminum, and such woods as poinciana and banyan.

Some of his works are realistic, especially a sensitive portrait of his sister Ena, and others are abstract or semi-abstract. But in all of them there is a fine feeling for sculptural form, texture and rhythmic movement.

Jenkins was born in England, but he came to New York in his teens and later studied with the well-known sculptors William Zorach and Jose de Creeft, as well as the Arts Students League in New York City.

He has been a member of the faculty at the Norton School of Art for the past five years, teaching both oil painting and drawing to adults and to teenagers. He is also currently the head of the art department at the Palm Beach Private School where he teaches sculpture.

ily, plus a new and different thrill show.

The captivating Ginny plays the piano, sings, dances, and otherwise tugs the heart strings of her audience. She titillates continuous laughter. Ginny is a current hit on coast-to-coast TV shows, in Las Vegas night clubs, at auditoriums, arenas, sport shows, and fairs throughout the country.

Patrice/Munsel/Opens Playhouse 22nd

Metropolitan Opera Star

Frank J. Hale has signed the glorious Patrice Munsel to open the 1962 season at his Royal Poinciana Playhouse in Palm Beach. Kicking off the season, described as one of "entertainment through comedy," is the London musical comedy success Chrysanthemum which will be making its American premiere. A refreshing, fun-filled satire of popular melodramas at the turn-of-the-century, the story of Chrysanthemum is presented musically in terms of such popular fads and rages as the bunny hug, turkey trot and ragtime.

Patrice Munsel, one of the most magnificent voices ever to be heard at New York's famed Metropolitan Opera, has been outrageously cast as Miss "Chrysanthemum" Brown, eldest of five proper daughters who mysteriously disappears after having been dispatched to the village grocer for a bottle of fresh, cold milk. The hilarious outcome and coming and going of this unfortunate, misunderstood lass are what have kept this musical comedy the toast of London for several seasons.

As Miss Munsel's leading man, Frank J. Hale, is currently negotiating with Michael Evans, the well-known British actor who just recently completed an international tour as "Professor Higgins" in My Fair Lady. Mr. Evans was first brought to this country by producer Gilbert Miller to be Audrey Hepburn's co-producing the production of Gigi which skyrocketed Miss Hepburn to stardom.

Mr. Hale is co-producing the exclusive Florida engagement of Chrysanthemum with Robert Schuler and Howard Barker and will participate in the coming New York production which will be readied immediately following the Palm Beach run.

Mr. Schuler recently co-produced the record-breaking revival of The Merry Widow in which Miss Munsel starred this past spring for the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Association. He has also been producer for his highly successful television series and has directed both here and in London.

Howard Barker is probably best known to theatre-goers as co-producer of Little Mary Sunshine, the long-running musical comedy hit which is now in its third year Off-Broadway.

This will mark the first appearance of Miss Munsel in a new work slated for Broadway and is indicative of her interests and unending talents during her most fascinating and varied career, starting with her debut at the Metropolitan Opera at the age of 17 through her filming of the biography of Melba.

Miss Gwen Rustin Entertains At Party

Miss Gwen Rustin entertained at her home Thursday night with a holiday party and get-together for the college and high school crowd. She was assisted by Miss Sonja Figueroa and Miss Bonnie Paige, who is visiting here from FSU.

More than 50 enjoyed dancing to the latest recordings and meeting with friends they hadn't seen for some time.
